

The Daily Courant.

Wednesday, June 11. 1718.

London, June 11.

Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from France.

From the Paris Gazette, dated June 18.

Madrid, May 31.

TH E King has had a slight Return of his late Indisposition, but it is gone off without any ill Consequence, so that on the 29th, he took the Diversion of Hunting. The Buildings of the Palace at Ballan being but lately finish'd, which might therefore render the living in them unwholesome, their Majesties are removed to the neighbouring Religious House of St. Jerome.

Naples, May 17. The Viceroy continues to apply all his Thoughts for the Defence of the Kingdom; and upon Advice come from Messina and Sardinia, that several Men of War, and a great Number of Transport Ships were arriv'd there, he has dispatch'd three Felucca's to bring him certain Advice of their Motions. He has order'd Lines to be made in the two Calabria's, with Forts and Redoubts from Space to Space, 10 Men with some Cannon being plac'd in each, whereof a greater Quantity being found wanting than are in the Arsenal and in the Towns, he has caus'd divers new Field pieces to be cast, and Carriages for them are making. On the 14th, 400 Recruits for the German Regiments, and 500 Men that were behind of the Regiment of Wetzel, with many Waggons of Baggage, arriv'd here. In order to have a secure Fund for the Payment of the Troops, the Viceroy has order'd the Lieutenant of the Chamber to bring all the Money of his Receipt into the military Chest, and 'tis hop'd thereby to get in 200000 Ducats. The President Argento is order'd to write a Treatise, to shew the Reasonableness for abolishing the Tribunal of the Numismatur, and that of the Revenues belonging to the Fabrick of St. Peter's Church at Rome, the Receipt whereof, as also of the Revenues of the vacant Benefices, is made by the Royal Officers. The Count de Charolois arriv'd here the 14th, and went to lodge in the Monastery of Mount Olivet, where an Apartment had been prepar'd for him.

Rome, May 24. On the 18th, the Pope gave Audience to Cardinal del Giudice, who the next Day took down from over the Gate of his Palace, the Arms of Spain. On the 19th, Cardinal Acquaviva, who came from Albano on Occasion of the Dispatches he had receiv'd from Madrid, went with a great Attendance to Audience of the Pope; after which, he went to the Apartment of Cardinal Albani, to inform him of the Intentions of the King of Spain, and the Complaints he makes of the long Delay of the proposing to the Archbishoprick of Seville, in Favour of Cardinal Alberoni. A Congregation of Cardinals was held that Day, wherein it was resolv'd, that he should enjoy the Revenues of that Church, by Virtue of a Brief, notwithstanding the Delay of expediting his Bulls.

From the Amst. Gazette, dated June 17.

Naples, May 24. The Viceroy, in applying himself continually in providing for the Security of the Kingdom, and the Occasions of the present Conjunction, has posted Troops with Cannon along the River of Polissippo, at the Magdalen Bridge, and at the Fort of Granatello. He has reforc'd the Castle of Ischia, sent Militia to Gaeta, and dispatch'd away two Gallies with Soldiers for Reggio, in order to hinder the Enemy's landing. This Week a General Review will be made at Ponte Salice, between Aversa and Capua, of the Troops arriv'd from Germany. The Neapolitan Militia that were here, are departed for Manfredonia, where they will embark to pass to Fiume, and from thence to Hungary. Felucca's arrive here often from the Coast of Sardinia, to inform us of the Motions of the Enemies. The Count de Charolois departed from hence Yesterday Morning to return to Rome, after having seen all that was remarkable in this City.

Genoa, May 28. We hear from Leghorn, by a Ship come from Sardinia, that on the 13th of this Month, there arriv'd at Cagliari 24 Spanish Men of War, with 16 Transports, many Barks, and 4 Gallies; and that 9 other Ships, with several Vessels, being the rest of the Fleet, were suddenly expected. 'Tis added, that to that time, 13000 Men had been landed in Sardinia, and that notwithstanding the Reports of an Accommodation between the Courts of Vienna and Madrid, it appear'd that the latter has a Design to make some new Enterprize before they listen to the Propositions that have been made. Also we hear from Milan and Naples, that Preparations of all things are making there, for pushing on Hostilities against the Spaniards, and opposing their Designs.

Belgrade, May 27. We see from hence all the Field cover'd with the Tents of the Troops which arrive daily. Two Days ago, the Lieutenant Field Marshal Ahumada, and the General Count Ottocarede Staremberg arriv'd in the Camp, as did also the Baron de Seckendorf Lieutenant Field Marshal, Yesterday. All the other Generals are expected forthwith. The Turks who cannot be ignorant of the Dispositions we make for speedily opening the Campaign, have begun to let some of their Troops appear. Two Days ago, 600 Spahi's, under the Command of an Ali Beg, attack'd the Palanka of Veilova, in which we had put some regular Troops during the Winter, by Reason of its too great Distance from our other Posts. But there were in it only a Rascian Captain with 150 of his Heydukes, who sustain'd so vigorously the Attacks of the Turks, that they were oblig'd to retire, leaving dead upon the Place the Brother of the Ali Beg, with 15 Spahi's; but they carried off several that were wounded. On our Part, we lost not one Man. General Baron Poth went two Days ago by Post, to make a Visit to the Imperial Ambassadors at Passarowitz, from whence he return'd hither Yesterday. We hear that General Count Merei hath been attack'd again with the Indisposition he had last Year, but it is chang'd into a Tertian Ague. All the Artillery is arriv'd in the Camp at Semlin.

From the Amst. Courant, dated June 18.

Vienna, June 9. This Morning a Report is spread, that one of our Regiments which was sent out to gain Intelligence on the other Side the Morava, was fallen upon and defeated by the Enemy. But in regard that some say it is Prince Eugene's Regiment of Horse, and others that it is the Regiment of Foot of the Duke of Wurtemberg; and also the Place and other Circumstances of the Fight are not named, we flatter our selves that this News will not prove true.

Copenhagen, June 11. The King of Denmark is at present at Odensee in Fumeh, and 'tis not yet known with any certainty whether his Majesty will go from thence. Upon a Report that was spread, which however prov'd false, that the Swedish Fleet was come out of Carelskrona, the British Admiral Sir John Norris is sail'd out of our Road with his Squadron to the Bay of Kiew and join'd our Fleet.

From the Amst. Courant, dated June 16.

Sir HARCOURT MASTER could not without much Satisfaction read the Daily Courant of the 7th Instant, whereby it appears that great Numbers of his Fellow Citizens have such Friendship and Esteem for him, that they have determined to put him in Nomination for Chamberlain of London at the ensuing Election; he thinks himself obliged to return them his most hearty Thanks, and to assure them and all his Fellow Citizens, whose Votes and Interest he very ear-ly desires, that if he shall have the Honour to be chosen into that Office, he will use his utmost Endeavour to deserve it, by the most diligent Personal Application to, and impartial Discharge of every part of his Duty, especially as to that which relates to Masters and their Apprentices.
